youth services GUIDE

empowering young people with basic tools to improve their lives

What is the youth services guide?

It is a booklet that contains information that young people need to empower themselves.

It provides specifically contact numbers of departments, institutions and organisations that offer services or programmes that the youth can tap into to improve their lives.

How will it help you?

This booklet will provide you with a:

- comprehensive list of contacts that will enable you to access government services that are relevant to young people.
- single directory that contains a wealth of information on a variety of key areas that affect the youth.

there are many opportunities for the youth

National Youth Development Agency (NYDA)

Government established the NYDA to:

- advance youth development through guidance and support to initiatives across sectors of society and spheres of government
- embark on initiatives that seek to advance the economic development of young people
- develop and coordinate the implementation of an integrated youth development plan and strategy for the country.

As part of its information services and communication programmes, the NYDA provides youth with information and counselling support through its various service-delivery channels, including youth advisory centres (YACs).

The NYDA's YACs are walk-in centres where trained personnel provide information, counselling support, training and referral services to young people. YACs offer information and support across a wide range of issues and topics such as career guidance and entrepreneurship, job preparation and other life skills and provide referral services. There are different types of YACs:

Full-service YACs: A full-service YAC is the largest version of a YAC with the added advantage of offering all the NYDA services under one roof e.g. business loan finance, business consultancy services vouchers, training and access to the National Youth Service programme.

YAC points: A YAC point is a smaller version of a YAC, providing similar services as a YAC but without full access to NYDA products and services. However, YAC points have the added advantage of being even closer to communities. The NYDA is currently collaborating with public Further Education and Training (FET) colleges, labour centres and municipalities for the placement of YAC points and is continuously looking to form more strategic partnerships.

Mobile YACs: A mobile YAC is a mobile version of a YAC with the added advantage of movement between various locations. Mobile YACs also provide outreach services to communities that are unable to access the YACs, by taking career, skills development and information entrepreneurship to the youth in their communities.

YAC kiosks: A YAC kiosk is the smallest version of a YAC, usually a shelf containing information with limited face-to-face assistance. YAC kiosks are usually located in places such as churches, community structures and tribal authorities.

YACs are open to all from Monday to Friday, from 08:00 to 17:00. There are currently 121 YACs and YAC points in operation.

Rani Lonwabo went into the Young Entrepreneurship Programme with ambitions of establishing a network of Internet cafés on the outskirts of Cape Town and has realised his dream. Since being part of the programme, he has grown his business by exceptional margins and has established four Internet cafes and three computer training centres. He has also founded the Silulo College, a training facility which aims to offer internationally accredited courses in the Eastern and Western Cape as well as Gauteng. He recently established partnerships with Vodacom, MWEB and Microsoft in South Africa and clinched contracts that will see him train call centre agents at some of South Africa's biggest companies, including Pick 'n Pay and the Raymond Ackerman Academy. His staff component grew from 33 to 162 and his monthly turnover doubled.

you need skills to move forward

Higher Education (HE)

HE in South Africa has many offerings at universities, comprehensive universities, universities of technology, FET colleges and sector education and training authorities (Setas). Studies can last anything from six months to six years (or even longer), with students having the opportunity to accumulate a number of qualifications.

universities

These are “traditional” academic universities that offer mainly degrees, have high numbers of postgraduate students and conduct research. Comprehensive universities are new institutions that, in most cases, combine a traditional university with a university of technology. They offer both diplomas and degrees as well as a range of short courses.

Further education and training colleges

FET colleges are institutions for everyone: the young, young adults, workers, parents, groups and the incarcerated.

- ✓ You are 16 years and older but the chances of attaining a National Senior Certificate are slim.
- ✓ You have a weak academic record and would still like to strengthen your achievement in some subjects before you consider further study.
- ✓ You are working and would like to study part-time.
- ✓ You are an older student or one who is returning to education.
- ✓ You are a parent with responsibilities that do not allow you to go to school full-time.
- ✓ You are in correctional services and you would like to further your education.
- ✓ You are undecided about any specific area of study and would like to try a few options.
- ✓ You want a technical/vocational career.
- ✓ You want to undertake HE studies but cannot afford to go to a university yet.
- ✓ You want a safe and a 'cooling out' period where you will still be engaged in some form of learning.
- ✓ You and your friends are involved in an income generating project, but you need support in developing your skills to make it sustainable and to grow it.

sector education and training authorities (setas)

The Setas were established by the Department of Labour and were created specifically to deal with skills shortages in South Africa. There are various sectors of Setas such as banking, agriculture, education and health.

The Setas facilitate training for out-of-school youth as well as anyone who needs additional skills and further training. Through the Setas one can also register for a learnership. A learnership combines education and training.

An ID is important to get as soon as you are eligible (from 16 years of age) as it proves your identity. The green bar-coded ID is also a legal form of identity when dealing with public and private institutions. There are many occasions when you will be requested to provide a copy of your ID – for example, for access to housing, education and healthcare services; to apply for a driver's licence or a job; or when entering into business agreements.

You will also need an ID to apply for a passport, and visas to work, study or visit friends and family overseas. You will also need your ID to register to vote in general and municipal elections. IDs are issued to South African citizens or permanent residence permit holders who are 16 years or older.

You can apply for your ID at any office of the Department of Home Affairs or any South African mission or consulate overseas.

Provide your cellphone number in your application so that you can receive regular updates on the progress of your application by SMS. To get the SMS updates, simply SMS the word "ID" followed by your ID number to 32551. You will be charged R1 for each SMS sent.

To find your nearest Home Affairs office, contact the call centre on 0800 601190 or 0800 204476.

To encourage young people to resist drugs, the Department of Social Development started a youth programme called Ke Moja, No Thanks I'm Fine Without Drugs. For more information, call the department at: 012 312 7794 For help with alcohol and drug abuse, call:

Support Programme for Industrial Innovation (SPII)

The SPII is a support programme of the dti, managed by the IDC. The SPII is designed to promote technology development in industry in South Africa through the provision of financial assistance for the development of innovative products and/or processes. The SPII specifically focuses on the development phase, which begins at the conclusion of basic research and ends when a pre-production prototype has been produced.

Seda Technology Programme (STP)

As part of the Government's strategy to consolidate small-enterprise support activities since April 2006, the activities of the Godisa Trust; the National Technology Transfer Centre (NTTC); the three business incubators of the dti, the Technology Advisory Centre (TAC); the technology-transfer activities of the Technology for Women in Business (TWIB) programme; and the support programmes for small enterprises of the South African Quality Institute were merged into a single programme – the Seda STP.

Benefits include subsidising R800 000 for tools, machinery and equipment on a 35:65 cost-sharing basis and R200 000 for business development services on a 50:50 cost-sharing basis.

Women economic empowerment incentives

Bavumile

South African women are gifted and talented in designing and crafting fashionable products for both the local and the international markets, mainly promoting South African culture and heritage. However, one of their greatest challenges is to produce quality products that can easily occupy the shelves of many local and international retail shops and boutiques, thus catching the eye of the buyer.

Bavumile seeks to ensure the quality production of commercially viable products that are produced by women by imparting relevant skills and expertise.

Isivande Women's Fund (IWF)

IWF is an exclusive women's fund established by the dti. The fund aims at accelerating women's economic empowerment by providing more affordable, usable and responsive finance. IWF targets formally registered enterprises, where 60% is owned and/or managed by women. The enterprises must have been existing and operating for two or more years and must fall within a loan range of R30 000 to R2 million.

Trade export and investment incentives

Critical Infrastructure Programme (CIP)

The CIP is a cost-sharing cash grant for projects designed to improve critical infrastructure in South Africa. The grant covers qualifying development costs from a minimum of 10% to a maximum of 30% towards the total development costs of qualifying infrastructure. It is made available to approved eligible enterprises upon the completion of the infrastructure project concerned. A cash grant to a maximum of 30% capped at R30 million for the development cost for qualifying infrastructure is available.

Export Marketing and Investment Assistance (EMIA)

- national pavilions at International events
The dti assists South African exporters by organising national pavilions to showcase local products at international trade exhibitions.
- International trade exhibition assistance
The dti provides financial assistance to export councils, industry associations, provincial trade and investment-promotion agencies, joint action groups, export clubs and chambers of commerce for international trade exhibitions where there is no national pavilion scheduled/ approved.

- Group outward-selling missions.

The dti provides assistance to South African exporters who seek to conclude export orders with foreign buyers. These missions are organised by export councils, chambers of commerce, provincial investment promotion agencies, export clubs or the dti.

Film and Television Incentive

The South African Government offers a package of incentives to promote its film production industry. The incentives consist of the Foreign Film and Television Production Incentive to attract foreign-based film productions to shoot on location in South Africa and the South African Film and Television Production and Co-Production Incentive, which aims to assist local film producers in the production of local content.
